Angeles Ovation; Relatives Avoid Limelight.

Lor Angeles papers of Tuesday containing an account of the opening of the meanon of grand opera, reaching El Paso, show that the triumph of Miss Sarame Raynolds, of El Paso, was even scealer than first reports had it.

The Examiner, under a five column heading, pays high tribute to Miss Raynolds as a singer and also devotes considerable space to the visit of her relatives from El Paso to the performance. The heading says: "Aide Brilliantly Ushers Opera Season; Rainoldi Triumphant in the Title Role." A two column "syramid" under the heading says: "Sarame Rainoldi Adelaimed Great Success in Superb Bendirion of Aida." A picture in costume or Miss Raynolds graces the article. Otheman Stevens, noted dramatic and musical article of the Examiner, writing of the opera, after his introduction, says: "With due attention to quality it has been the desire of the premoters of the company to give American risgory a hearing; this idea impressario Lambardi filled with rare ladingment when he selected Miss Sarame Rainoldi as Aida and Miss Margarite Jarona a summeria. El Paso Is Now Principal Port of Entry For Mexican Beans For U.S.

Twenty-five cartoads of Mexican came, of 40,000 pounds to the car, were shipped from El Paso this week to New Orleans for the Belgian sufferers.

Orleans for the Belgian sufferers.

The beans were of the Mexican frijois variety imported through the mares customs house from Mexico.
They were ordered by brokers in New Orleans to fill an order from the citizens of that city in respending to the appeal for Belgian aid. The James A.
Dick company filled the order.

This is but one of numerous large sripment of frijoles from El Paso during the past year. Prior to a year age Laredo was the principal American port of entry for Mexican frijoles, but El Paso has imported the greater part of the Mexican bean crop during the past year, over 500 carloads of beans having been cleared through this port in the past 12 months, according to local dealers.
